

CHAPTER 112: MASH BURNEDAD AND THE SYMBOL OF PEACE

Long ago, when the history of magic was in its infancy...

...the world was divided into several small countries.

*Conflicts between these countries
were a daily affair.*

But then a handful of magic users appeared...

*...who possessed enough strength
to turn the tides of battle...*

They could fight off hundreds of single-line mages at a time...

The double-line mages.

*Every country sought to hoard
them.*

...but their arrival only exacerbated the fighting.

*A single figure who surpassed
any other and united all in the magic realm.*

*Until
one day,
they too
met their match.*

Adam Jobs.

The first Divine Visionary.

*Alone,
he could take on the entirety of a country's forces.*

*Those comparable in strength who awakened
to the power of the gods
after him
are revered
as Divine Visionaries.*

They are the symbol of absolute power in the world.

Nothing can encroach upon their strength.

WHY
THE GRIM
LOOK?

HEH.
COMI-CAL.

MY THIRDS CAN'T BE DODGED.
AND HE JUST BEAT HIS WAY THROUGH
IT...

WHAT THE HELL? HE'S TOUGH... MY REGENERATION
ABILITY CAN'T KEEP UP...

YOU HAVE FORTI-TUDE.

BUT YOU ALSO HAVE A SIZABLE
FLAW...

I'M NOT FINISHED
WITH YOU
YET!!!

...this was the first time he'd seen...

*As his consciousness
faded, Renatus Revol, the Immortal
Cane, thought...*

*...one with the strength
to surpass
a god.*

BUT IT'S NOT POSSIBLE!

IF EVEN THE VISIONARIES
COULDN'T STOP

KILLING
YOU WOULD ENSURE THAT NONE COULD THREATEN MY SUPERIORITY.

I WILL BECOME THE PERFECT
BEING.

BUT SHOULD
YOU WISH TO LIVE,
I OFFER
YOU AN OPPORTUNITY.

...TO
