MASH BURNEDEAD

An unusual boy incapable of using magic. With his finely honed muscles, he's able to punch his way through any spell, but it's not so easy to fight off his ignorance of the world. He values his family and friends and loves cream puffs, and he can't tell if a door is pushable or pullable.

STORY

In the magic realm, everyone is capable of magic, and your skill at it (or lack thereof) determines everything. Deep in the forest lives a boy named Mash. Daily training has turned him into a god of physical fitness, but he has a secret—he can't use magic! In the magic realm, that's cause for extermination. To keep his secret under wraps, Mash enters magic school with the goal of earning the title "Divine Visionary"—one chosen by the gods. Luckily, his exceptional strength helps him hide his lack of magic from the world. That same strength has finally brought him here—to the Divine Visionary Selection Exam!

Easton and Walkis compete for dominance in the final challenge of the Divine Visionary Selection Exam, which takes place in the curse-filled maze Grief Manor! Whoever claims the Wand of Beginnings, hidden within the maze, will become a Divine Visionary. As the competition heats up, Lévis, the cruel son of the head of the Bureau of Magic, seals Mash away in an endless void! Dot and Lance go all out to rescue him, which only infuriates Lévis, who is willing to hurt enemies and allies alike in order to win! Not only does Lévis possess two wands, which allows him to use the twin magics of lightning and magnetism; he is a triple-liner as well! At the end of a fierce fight, a powerful headbutt from Mash puts a dent in Lévis' brutal drive for dominance. And now...

LANCE CROWN

A powerful pretty boy who ranked first in the entrance exams. Loves his sister a little too much.

FINN AMES

Mash's roommate. Comedic foil and Mash's very first friend.
